Portrait cut-outs

Portrait cut-outs should also represent our three audiences. Models should look happy, relaxed, and calm to convey a feeling of trustworthiness.

These images should be combined with gradients and full-color backgrounds, so it's best to source images of people wearing clothing that complements the background and doesn't make the designs busier. Clothing should ideally fit into our color palette: white, grey, green, and red are best.